RE: CPNI for WPMD532 and WNVV762

06-36

Dear Sirs:

This is our 2008 CPNI Filing for compliance with 64.2009(e).

The following Declarations are made under penalty of perjury in this Affidavit:

Kitchen Productions, Inc., dba: Tortoise Paging, does not require any confidentiality with reference to this matter or our CPNI Filing.

Kitchen Productions, Inc., dba: Tortoise Paging, does not raise any Claims of Privilege.

Kitchen Productions, Inc., dba: Tortoise Paging, will answer all questions concerning Documents with the following statements:

Kitchen Productions, Inc., dba: Tortoise Paging, is a small privately-held California Corporation with only two part-time employees, both Officers of the Corporation. Edward K. Tipler is President and Marcella J. Tipler is Vice President. There are no other officers or regular employees. Kitchen Productions, Inc, hereafter referred to as "KPI" is a classic Mom & Pop small business, now operating from the family home address at 216 N. Jacks Ranch Road, Ridgecrest, California 93555, specifically from our detached garage.

After about October 2001, the paging industry subscribership collapsed, with our peak of about 1,100 total pagers in service in January 2001, dwindling now to under 80 pagers in service. We were forced due to economic considerations to close our office in the business district of Ridgecrest that we had occupied for 11 years, in January 2002. At some point it will cost more to provide service than we receive in income, and at that point we will cease paging operations and cancel our FCC license. The tiny KPI

Corporation is operated as a sideline business, and because Marcella J. Tipler is partially medically disabled and spent considerable time tending to our middle son who was a SP-4 Russian Language Linguist in the U.S. Army and was struck with primary brain cancer in November 2001 and just died on 10 Dec 2007 after receiving hospice in our home, and that Edward K. Tipler is within three years of retirement from his primary employment, the Corporation is highly cost sensitive due to the loss of over 90% of the Corporation's paging income. The Officers of KPI will attempt to satisfy the Commissions filing requirements without resorting to expensive Telecommunications Lawyers. It is the Prayer of the Corporation that the Commission Staff will accept this letter for our 2008 CPNI Filing.

Documents: There were no other documents ever created in response to the Commission's Rule concerning CPNI, other than these Certifications which was filed with the Commission. All discussions of CPNI within the Corporation have been verbal between Edward and Marcella Tipler, as officers and part-time employees of the Corporation (KPI).

KPI CPNI Policy: KPI and its Employees and Officers do not engage in any Marketing Campaigns, other than simple passive advertising such as in the Yellow Pages of the East Kern Verizon Directory, and via our webpage at: www.tortoisepaging.com. KPI has a policy of not engaging in active marketing because our small remote community of under 25,000 population is a place where our Passive Marketing worked very well and very cost-effectively through stickers placed on customer's pagers, the custom greeting on our paging terminal that says "Thank you for calling a Tortoise Paging Customer, please key in your numeric message or phone number at the beep", our former office storefront signs in the business district and by customer word-of-mouth to their friends and associates. It is the Policy of KPI that customer information is never shared with any third parties. In the entire history of KPI, there has never been a request by Police or any Government Agency for information on any KPI customers. KPI does prepare an information page that is given to new paging customers that gives system operating parameters and makes a statement concerning the 4-digit Passcode that is issued to each pager number that allows a user to call in via any telephone and play back numeric messages in voice over the telephone. This service is provided for customers that need to turn off their pagers or who are out of range temporarily, so that they never need to miss a page, even though the missed pages are delivered some time later via the telephone. Our PageSaver information page states that the Passcode is a Confidential number and that the users should protect and that they should remember it as we do not give the Passcode out to anyone over the telephone without considerable verification of the caller's identity, usually with KPI calling back to the regular telephone number that was given to KPI when the account was setup. KPI has never, and will never, sell or share any customer mailing lists or any other information. Because KPI is a Corporation of only two individuals, husband and wife, there is considerable reasonable certainty that no customer information is ever shared with any third parties.
